Ruritan Club Hears Wayne Garrett

By Francis E. Tyler, Club Reporter

The Oakville Ruritan Club held its regular monthly meeting Thursday evening, Nov. 3, 1977, at the Oakville School.

After the usual business, the members were priveleged to hear an address by Mr. Wayne Garrett, Special Investigator in the Division of Investigation of the Virginia State Police. Mr. Garrett is well known locally and is a Steward in Memorial Methodist Church of Appomattox. He presented the use of the Polygraph as a means of lie-detection in investigations of the testimony of suspects. He outlined man's search for the truth from antiquity to the present; and emphasized that while the polygraph method is not infallible, it has proven successful in a large percentage of cases.

The application of the testing devices was demonstrated. There is a flexible band placed around the diaphragm, which reacts to the breathing of the subject. Wires attached with adhesive to two fingers, through their circuit to galvanometers, provide a means of measuring the conductivity of the skin. A pressure band applied to the arm, supplies the means of determing and transmitting to the stylus, the blood pressure and pulse rate. All of the elements are recorded by styli moving over a record sheet which thus trace out a normal pattern, and reveal by unusual fluctuations any departure from the normal, which may be engendered by the subject's reaction to a question or his answer to it.

Mr. Garrett noted that the record is marked with the beginning and end of each question, and the beginning and end of each answer.

Clearly, the success of the endeavor depends in large measure on the skill of the operator in framing the questions, and his interpretation of the record. We are convinced Mr. Garrett is an expert.

Great American Smokeout

Thursday, Nov. 17, has been designated as The Great American Smokeout across the nation as well as in Virginia by the American Cancer Society (ACS), an ACS spokesman has announced. This effort is aimed at creating an awareness of the danger of smoking and the more than 1,000,000 smokers in Virginia are being challenged to refrain for that one day in order to closely consider why and how much they smoke, the spokesman added.

"Of course, we don't expect to win over all these smokers," Dr. Robert Berry of Roanoke ACS Virginia Division Medical Vice - President, commented, "but we'd like to have at least 95,000 of the cigarette smokers in Virginia to sign a pledge card committing themselves to 24 hours without a cigarette (or any form of tobacco). We're not preaching at anyone to quite smoking completely but rather just to try it for a day. However, if they want to make a longer go of it, we are offering "Quit Smoking" clinics in many areas of the state."

In communities such as Roanoke and Hampton, local dignitaries are officially proclaiming Nov. 17 as The Great American Smokeout while other areas are sponsoring pledge card signing campaigns in shopping centers schools and universities. There will be a rivalry between Radford College and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University to see which campus can get the most pledges to give up smoking. Many radio disc jockeys across the state are pledging to give up cigarettes that day and will be encouraging their listeners who also are trying to hold off. Helpful hints for alternative activities to smoking will be given over the air or informaton is available from any office of the ACS.

Friday Is Fun Day

No longer is Friday only that "wonderful" last day of the week school kids dream of at Pamplin Elementary School. Friday is Fun-day for fourth, fifth, and sixth graders who participate in "Fun Friday."

What's "Fun Friday?" Fun Friday is just what it reads. A Friday full of fun. The youngsters work on creative, crafty projects that are enjoyable and fun to learn. Approximately two different projects are conducted each Friday, but all kids get to do both.

The projects are conducted by teachers and local Extension Agents from the community.

Friday is Fun Day for the Pamplin kids and more for those who watch them enjoy it.
